5.4 CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION AND DATA MANAGEMENT

Confidential information and data is anything considered to be vital to M and/or our sponsors, and is not generally known outside of MMS business interactions. Release of confidential information outside of MMS is only permitted per sponsor contract or with permission from the Vice Presider Information Officer, or Sr. Manager, Corporate Quality & Information Systems
Examples	 Sponsor provided documents, details, product data, study results, etc.; MMS generated documents and deliverables; IMS documents and records; MMS and sponsor training materials and records; and MMS and Sponsor templates, forms, guidances and guidelines.

Function	Process Requirements
Saving & Storage	 Sponsor provided data/information may only be stored on removable media (e.g., zip drive, USB storage device, compact disc, etc.) if permitted by sponsor agreement(s), and only for the purpose of the project. Removable media must only contain data/information for the specific sponsor/project and must be permanently erased, securely archived, returned to the sponsor, or destroyed once no longer needed, based on sponsor preference. Storage within the sponsor's systems must comply with sponsor processes. Storage and archiving within MMS systems must comply with the Document Control (QA-SOP-001) and the Record Control and Archiving (QA-SOP-004). Storage/saving on personal computers is not permitted. Temporary files saved to work computers must be permanently deleted when no longer needed.
Printing	 Printing of sponsor provided information/data is allowed only if permitted by the sponsor and only for the purposes of the project. Whenever possible, avoid printing confidential information, but when required, mark each page as 'confidential' (e.g., stamp or watermark tool). Utilize the secure print option where available and required. Retrieve printed documents immediately. When no longer needed, printed documents are to be permanently destroyed (deposited in the shredding bins, or personally shredded by the colleague).

Distribution &
Communication

• Confidential information is not communicated, shared, or distributed in any manner outside of the intended recipients (e.g., MMS colleagues and project team, sponsor project team, etc.).

5.5 Proprietary Information and Data Management

Definition	Proprietary information is information of financial nature related to MMS. This information is only available for viewing by permitted MMS staff. Release of proprietary information to unauthorized personnel within MMS, or outside of MMS can only be done with authorization from the Vice President, Chief Financial Officer, or Executive Director, Project and Account Management.
Examples	Quotes, costs, hourly rate, balance sheets, and expense runs.

Function	Process Requirements
Saving & Storage	 Proprietary information is not permitted to be saved/stored either on removable media or outside of the originating location unless specifically permitted by the sponsor or MMS Document Owner. Printed documents are stored in designated locked cabinets/drawers.
Printing	 Whenever possible, avoid printing proprietary information. Personnel with access to print proprietary information must print using private printers provided. In extreme cases printing to common printers is permitted but documents must be collected immediately and personally, and should be marked as 'proprietary' (e.g., stamp or watermark tool). When no longer needed, printed documents are to be permanently destroyed (deposited in the shredding bins, or personally shredded by the colleague).
Distribution & Communication	Proprietary information can be distributed and communicated only to permitted MMS personnel, and to sponsors where contractually agreed.

5.6 PRIVATE INFORMATION AND DATA MANAGEMENT

Private Information (PI) includes: Protected Health Information (PHI), Personal Identifiable Information (PII), Sensitive Personal Information (SPI), personal financial/billing information, restricted data, or any information considered private by MMS, the sponsor/project requirements, and/or applicable local privacy laws and regulations. Refer to the Protection of Private Data and Pr Breach Management SOP (QA-SOP-016)
Examples	 Personal descriptors, e.g., name, age, place of birth, date of birth, gender, weight, height, eye color, hair color, fingerprint or other biometric identifiers; Identification numbers, e.g., Health IDs, Social Insurance Numbers, Social Security Numbers, National Insurance Numbers, Personal Identification Number (PIN), debit or credit card numbers, banking numbers, etc.; Ethnicity, e.g., race, color, nationality, or ethnic origin; Health information, including genetic information; Personal billing/financial, and employment information; and Other MMS, sponsor/project, or external party-defined PI.

Function	Process Requirements
Saving & Storage	 Private information/data is not permitted to be saved/stored on removable media or outside of the originating location unless specifically permitted by the sponsor or in an agreement between all stakeholders. Printed documents are stored in designated locked cabinets/drawers.
Printing	 Whenever possible, avoid printing private information/data. Permitted personnel must print using private printers provided. In extreme cases printing to common printers is permitted, but documents must be collected immediately and personally, and marked as 'private' (e.g., stamp or watermark tool). When no longer needed, printed documents are to be permanently destroyed (deposited in the shredding bins, or personally shredded by the colleague).
Distribution & Communication	 Distribution and communication of MMS private information/data is restricted to document owners and permitted personnel only. External release of sponsor-provided private information/data is only permitted per contractual agreement between applicable stakeholders.
